

Persona and User Story Creation:

Name: Sam Jones

Role: First year English Literature student

Pain Points: I am a first year English Literature student who struggles to manage assignment deadlines alongside required reading for seminars. I would like an app that allows me to clearly separate my subjects and workload, as well as the ability to make notes to keep track of library locations and references for texts I need to access. I would also like to add friends within the application, so that we can share deadlines and maintain some accountability.

User Stories:

As a student with multiple modules, I want to be able to organise between the different deadlines I am working towards. GIVEN that I have multiple modules with different assignment types to work towards, WHEN I organise my assignments THEN I should be able to sort by subject.

As a student who needs to keep track of references and reading lists, I want to be able to add notes to keep track of library locations. GIVEN that I need to keep track of the books and references I use, WHEN I need to store these THEN I want to be able to keep note of these within the application.

I would like to add my friends to view their deadlines and keep me accountable for meeting my own. GIVEN that I want to have accountability for deadlines THEN I want to be able to add my friends and view their deadlines WHEN I have upcoming tasks.

I would like to be able to add notes on the application to keep track of my to-do list/ keep a paper trail of the things that I'd like to complete. GIVEN I like to make digital notes of internal thought THEN I want the option to store these notes WHEN using the application.
